Principal Life Risk: The crediting rate on the Principal Life insurance policy held in the Fund is established periodically by Principal Life and is guaranteed by the general assets of the company. While Principal Life is a well-regarded life insurance company with a stable history, there can be no guarantee that the crediting rate will be achieved, and an investment in the Fund is dependent on the financial stability of Principal Life.

Investment strategies employed by the Fund's advisor in selecting investments for each Fund may not result in an increase in the value of your investment or in overall performance equal to other investments.

Objective Risk: There is no guarantee that a Fund will reach its stated objective.

Investment Style Risk: There is the chance that returns from micro to large-capitalization stocks will trail returns from the overall stock market.

Limited History of Operations: The Retirement Collective Investment Trust and its associated Fund is a new offering and there is a limited history of operations for investors to evaluate.

Expense Risk: Prior to making an investment in a Fund, investors should carefully consider the expenses and how those expenses may reduce overall investment performance.

Market Risk: The market price of a security or instrument may decline, sometimes rapidly or unpredictably, due to general market conditions that are not specifically related to a particular company, such as real or perceived adverse economic or political conditions, throughout the world, changes in the general outlook for corporate earnings, changes in interest or currency rates or adverse investor sentiment generally. The market value of a security or instrument also may decline because of factors that affect a particular industry or industries, such as labor shortages or increased production costs and competitive conditions within an industry.
