This document discloses information pertaining to the Resources Collective Investment Trust (the "Trust"). These investment options are provided to you by your employer through the company's retirement plan by Alta Trust Company ("Alta Trust"). It is important that you review this information prior to investing.

COLLECTIVE INVESTMENT FUNDS FOR EMPLOYEE BENEFIT PLANS

What are the Resources Collective Investment Funds?

The Funds are maintained by Alta Trust that are designed to serve the investment needs of tax-qualified employer sponsored retirement plans. The Funds are not mutual funds registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("1940 Act"), as amended, or other applicable law, and unit holders are not entitled to the protections of the 1940 Act. The regulations applicable to a collective investment fund are different from those applicable to a mutual fund. The Funds' units are not securities registered under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, or applicable securities laws of any state or other jurisdiction. In addition, the Funds' units are not publicly traded on any exchange or over-the-counter market and, as a result, the unit values are not available for publication in newspapers.

The unit values of each Fund will fluctuate and the value of each Fund will decrease or increase in accordance with market conditions. There is no guarantee that a Fund will achieve its investment objectives. Units in the Funds are not deposits or obligations of, or endorsed or guaranteed by, Alta Trust or its affiliates, and the units are not insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other independent organization. The Funds are also subject to investment risks, including possible loss of the principal amount invested.

Fund Trustee

Alta Trust is a South Dakota state chartered trust company that provides retirement plan services to plan sponsors throughout the USA. In its capacity as Trustee, Alta Trust provides investment management, trust and custody services for the Funds.

Investment Manager

Resources Investment Advisors, LLC is the "Investment Manager" as that term is defined in Section 3(38) of Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 ("ERISA"), as amended, with respect to the Trust and any Plan investing in the Funds. All of the assets of the Funds will be invested according to corresponding strategies and investment guidelines described below.

Who May Want to Invest

The Funds may be an appropriate investment for investors seeking professional management of their retirement account assets.

About Risk

The Funds may invest in all asset classes and types including but not limited to: equities, collective investment funds, exchange traded funds, bonds, treasuries, registered investment companies, cash & cash equivalents, equity futures, and bond futures. The Funds are subject to market risk, meaning that the value of the investments in the Funds may decline over time, causing a reduction in the value of the Funds.

Principal Investment Risks: As with all investment strategies, there is the risk that you could lose money through your investment in the Funds. Many factors affect the Funds' net asset value and performance. In addition to other risks the following risks may apply to the Funds' investments:

Fund of fund Risk: Mutual Funds, Exchange Traded Products (ETPs), Collective Investment Trusts (CITs), and other fund offerings may be subject to investment advisory and other expenses, which will be indirectly paid by the Fund. As a result, the cost of investing in a Fund may materially be higher than a similar Fund that invests direct in securities. Mutual Funds, ETPs, CITs, and other fund offerings are subject to specific risks, depending on the nature of the fund. These risks include but are not limited to market risk, liquidity risk, management risk, credit risk, concentration risk, inflation risk, security type risk, and horizon risk.

Equity Risk: The value of the equity securities held by the Fund may fall due to general market and economic conditions, perceptions regarding the industries in which the issuers of securities held by the Fund participate, or factors relating to specific companies in which the Fund invests.

Expense Risk: Prior to making an investment in a Fund, investors should carefully consider the expenses and how those expenses may reduce overall investment performance.

Fixed Income Securities Risk: The prices of fixed income securities respond to economic developments, particularly interest rate changes, as well as to changes in an issuer's credit rating or market perceptions about the creditworthiness of an issuer. Generally fixed income securities decrease in value if interest rates rise and increase in value if interest rates fall, and longer-term and lower rated securities are more volatile than shorter term and higher rated securities.

Foreign Investment Risk: The prices of foreign securities may be more volatile than the prices of securities of U.S. issuers because of economic and social conditions abroad, political developments, and changes in the regulatory environments of foreign countries. In addition, changes in exchange rates and interest rates may adversely affect the values of the Fund's foreign investments. Foreign companies are generally subject to different legal and accounting standards than U.S. companies, and foreign financial intermediaries may be subject to less supervision and regulation than U.S. financial firms.

Futures Risk: The value of a futures contract tends to increase and decrease in correlation with the value of the underlying instrument. Risks of futures contracts may arise from an imperfect correlation between movements in the price of the instruments and the price of the underlying securities. A Fund's use of futures contracts (and related options) exposes a Fund to leverage risk because of the small margin requirements relative to the value of the futures contract. A relatively small market movement will have a proportionately larger impact on the funds that a Fund has deposited or will have to deposit with a broker to maintain its futures position. Leverage can lead to large losses as well as gains. While futures contracts are generally liquid instruments, under certain market conditions they may become illiquid. Futures exchanges may impose daily or intraday price change limits and/or limit the volume of trading. Additionally, Government regulation may further reduce liquidity through similar trading restrictions. As a result, a Fund may be unable to close out its futures contracts at a time that is advantageous. The price of futures can be highly volatile; using them could lower total return, and the potential loss from futures could exceed a Fund's initial investment in such contracts.

Investment Style Risk: There is the chance that returns from micro to large-capitalization stocks will trail returns from the overall stock market.

Limited History of Operations: The Resources Collective Investment Trust and its associated Funds are a new offering and there is a limited history of operations for investors to evaluate.

Management and Strategy Risk: The value of your investment depends on the judgment of the Fund's Investment Manager about the quality, relative yield, value or market trends affecting a particular security, industry, sector or region, which may prove to be incorrect. Investment strategies employed by the Fund's advisor in selecting investments for the Fund may not result in an increase in the value of your investment or in overall performance equal to other investments.

Market Risk: The market price of a security or instrument may decline, sometimes rapidly or unpredictably, due to general market conditions that are not specifically related to a particular company, such as real or perceived adverse economic or political conditions, throughout the world, changes in the general outlook for corporate earnings, changes in interest or currency rates or adverse investor sentiment generally. The market value of a security or instrument also may decline because of factors that affect a particular industry or industries, such as labor shortages or increased production costs and competitive conditions within an industry.

Objective Risk: There is no guarantee that the Funds will reach their stated objectives.

Other Risks: The above list of risk is not comprehensive and the Funds may be subject to other risks not specified in this disclosure.

As described in the Declaration of Trust, the STIF will pay a specified crediting rate to the CIT(s). That rate will be established from time to time by Alta Trust, based on the return on the investment of assets held in the STIF. The STIF does not have any separately stated fees. However, as indicated in the Declaration of Trust, Alta Trust will retain as compensation the difference between the crediting rate and the return on the STIF's invested assets (referred to as the "spread").
