It is important that you review this information prior to investing.

COLLECTIVE INVESTMENT FUNDS FOR EMPLOYEE BENEFIT PLANS

What are the Sloy, Dahl & Holst Collective Investment Funds?

The Sloy, Dahl & Holst Funds (each a “Fund,” and together the “Funds”) are collective investment funds maintained by Alta Trust that are designed to serve the investment needs of tax-qualified employer sponsored retirement plans. The Funds are not mutual funds registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, (“1940 Act”) or other applicable law, and unit holders are not entitled to the protections of the 1940 Act. The regulations applicable to a collective investment fund are different from those applicable to a mutual fund. The Fund’s units are not securities registered under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended or applicable securities laws of any state or other jurisdiction. In addition, the Fund’s units are not publicly traded on any exchange or over-the-counter market and, as a result, the unit values are not available for publication in the newspapers.

The unit values of the Funds will fluctuate and the value of the Funds will decrease or increase in accordance with market conditions. There is no guarantee that any Fund will achieve its investment objective. Units in the Funds are not deposits or obligations of, or endorsed or guaranteed by, Alta Trust or its affiliates and the units are not insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other independent organization. The Funds are also subject to investment risks, including possible loss of the principal amount invested.

Fund Trustee

Alta Trust is a South Dakota state chartered trust company that provides retirement plan services to plan sponsors throughout the USA. In its capacity as Trustee, Alta Trust provides investment management, trust and custody services for the Funds. Alta Trust does not provide investment advice or advisory services to employers, retirement plan participants or accountholders.

Investment Manager

Sloy, Dahl & Holst, LLC is the “Investment Manager” as that term is defined in Section 3(38) of Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (“ERISA”), as amended, with respect to the Trust and any Plan investing in any Fund. All of the assets of the Funds will be invested according to corresponding strategies and investment models developed and provided by the Investment Manager.

Who May Want to Invest

The Funds may be an appropriate investment for investors seeking professional management of their retirement account assets.

About Risk

The Funds will invest primarily in mutual funds and money market vehicles. The Funds are subject to market risk, which is the chance that the value of the investments in the Funds may decline over time, causing a reduction in the value of the Funds.

Principal Investment Risks: As with all investment strategies, there is the risk that you could lose money through your investment in the Fund(s). Many factors affect a Fund's net asset value and performance. The following risks may apply to the Fund's direct investments as well as the Fund's indirect risks through investing in mutual funds.

- Stock markets tend to move in cycles, with periods of rising stock prices and periods of falling stock prices. Bond markets also usually move in cycles, with bond values being inversely related to changes in interest rates. As interest rates rise, the value of a bond tends to decrease, and as interest rates decline, the value of a bond tends to increase.
- Each Fund may invest in mutual funds, which invest in foreign securities and are therefore also subject to the risks of investment in foreign markets. Investing in foreign markets can involve a greater level of risk, as there is often a lower degree of market volume and liquidity than in the U.S. markets and this may result in higher price volatility. In addition, currency risk must also be considered. Foreign securities are denominated in foreign currencies, which may change in value in relation to the U.S. dollar, possibly for long periods of time. When a foreign currency declines in value in relation to the U.S. dollar, the return on foreign investments may likewise decline. Foreign governments may also intervene in currency markets or impose approval or registration processes, which could adversely affect the value of the Funds.
- Fund of fund Risk: Mutual Funds, Exchange Traded Products (ETPs), Collective Investment Trusts (CITs), and other fund offerings may be subject to investment advisory and other expenses, which will be indirectly paid by the Fund. As a result, the cost of investing in a Fund may materially be higher than a similar Fund that invests direct in securities. Mutual Funds, ETPs, CITs, and other fund offerings are subject to specific risks, depending on the nature of the fund. These risks include but are not limited to market risk, liquidity risk, management risk, credit risk, concentration risk, inflation risk, security type risk, and horizon risk.
- Management Risk: The Investment Manager's dependence on its process and judgments about the attractiveness, value and potential appreciation of particular mutual funds in which the Funds invest may prove to be incorrect and may not produce the desired results.
- Market Risk: Overall securities market risks will affect the value of individual instruments in which the Fund invests. Factors such as economic growth and market conditions, interest rate levels, and political events affect the US securities markets. When the value of a Fund's investments goes down, your investment in the Fund decreases in value and you could lose money.

- Long/Short Investments: The Investment Manager may choose to use mutual funds that employ a long/short strategy in the Funds. Long/short funds have all of the same market and performance risk as most other mutual funds but also include the additional risks from short selling. If the fund sells a security short and subsequently has to buy the security back at a higher price, the fund will lose money on the transaction. Any loss will be increased by the amount of compensation, interest or dividends and transaction costs the fund must pay to a lender of the security. The amount the fund could lose on a short sale is theoretically unlimited (as compared to a long position, where the maximum loss is the amount invested). The use of short sales, which has the effect of leveraging the fund, could increase the exposure of the fund to the market, increase losses and increase the volatility of returns. The fund may not always be able to close out a short position at a particular time or at an acceptable price. A lender may request that borrowed securities be returned to it on short notice, and the fund may have to buy the borrowed securities at an unfavorable price. If this occurs at a time that other short sellers of the same security also want to close out their positions, it is more likely that the fund will have to cover its short sale at an unfavorable price and potentially reduce or eliminate any gain, or cause a loss, as a result of the short sale.

The STIF is an account maintained by Alta Trust. It is not a registered security or mutual fund and is not an account that is FDIC insured. As described in the Declaration of Trust, the STIF will pay a specified crediting rate to the CIT(s). That rate will be established from time to time by Alta Trust, based on the return on the investment of assets held in the STIF. The STIF does not have any separately stated fees. However, as indicated in the Declaration of Trust, Alta Trust will retain as compensation the difference between the crediting rate and the return on the STIF's invested assets (referred to as the "spread").
